

HERESY

Is Charged Against Methodists

A SUBCOMMITTEE APOINTED AT LOS ANGELES

To Investigate Charges Against Men and Colleges.

MAY BLOCK THE UNIVERSITY,

Which Bishop McCabe Wishes to Open Without Waiting for the $5,000- 000 Endowment.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 12.—Practically no business was transacted by the Methodist General Conference yesterday. The early morning session was devoted entirely to a consideration of the report of the committee on rules as reported by Rev. Dr. T. H. Neely, chairman. The reading and debating of the various sections governing the manner of transacting business on the floor of the conference and the reference of motions and resolutions to committees took up the time of the conference until recess, at which time the report was left unfinished. There were many sharp passages at arms between the parliamentary experts which somewhat enlivened an otherwise dull and featureless session.

After much debate the subcommittee was finally voted the power of a board of inquiry, and will hear all the evidence bearing upon this subject. Memorials on these charges have been received from the Columbia River, Southern Illinois and Swedish conferences, asking for an examination into the orthodoxy of books in use in Methodist schools and of the professors of several of the faculties. Members of the Rock River conference sent a memorial, asking the board of bishops to refuse to confirm the appointment of professors whose orthodoxy there was reasonable ground for doubting.

All of these memorials and others of similar import were recommended to the subcommittee.

Three prominent educators on the committee, who are standing together on the ground that theology in Methodist schools is safe and sound, are Chancellor J. R. Day, of Syracuse; President Charles J. Little, of Garrett Biblical Institute, and Secretary W. F. McDowell, of the board of education.

In addition to their opposition to the heresy charges these men are also exerting a strong influence in blocking Bishop McCabe's plan to open the American university before the $5,000,000 endowment is secured.

Their contentions against these two important clauses are made more interesting by the fact that the three gentlemen named are all prominent candidates for bishopric honors. These represent the aggressive element in the church, and as they win or lose the question of liberal or conservative policy in the church may largely be determined.

After recess the duty of receiving and welcoming fraternal delegates was taken up, and addresses were made by Rev. William Dodson, fraternal delegate from Canada, and Rev. J. C. Kilgore, of the M. E. Church South. Dr. Kilgore aroused the enthusiasm of the delegates to a degree not before reached in the general conference by his eloquent peroration, in which he asserted that no one could love the Stars and Stripes more than the people of the South. At the conclusion of his address the audience arose at the request of Bishop Andrews and sang "America."

The present indications are that the heresy charges which have been made against several individuals high in the councils of Methodism are destined to provoke a spirited conflict before a final settlement of the controversy is reached.

The committee on education has appointed a subcommittee which will have consideration of this important matter. The question as to whether this subcommittee shall have power to call before it persons upon whose testimony will be decided the charges of heresy, and papers bearing upon the subject, evoked a vigorous contest in the main committee.

ABDUCTED

AND LOCKED IN A FRENCH PROVINCIAL JAIL

Is the Story an American Girl Has Told United States Consul Gowdy at Paris.

Paris, May 12.—United States Consul General Gowdy recently received a letter from an American girl, saying that she was locked up in a provincial jail without any charge having been made against her. The consul general sent a representative to the jail and secured the girl's release and return to Paris. He then cabled to her parents, residing at Decatur, Ga., requesting funds for her return to America. The girl related a sensational story. She claimed to have been abducted by an American seeking to carry her, and said she accompanied him on an automobile tour, was locked up in a room in a country hotel, escaped and attempted to walk across the country, but was arrested as a wanderer by the French authorities. Inquiries made by Mr. Gowdy's representative established the correctness of her detention at the provincial jail, but the story of her abduction was not verified except by her statement, which has been reduced to an affidavit before the consul.

The names of the parties are withheld, as no legal steps have been taken against the alleged abductor, and owing to the doubtful character of some of the accusations. Pending the arrival of funds the girl is being cared for by the American Young Women's Christian association.

Popular Society Girl.

Atlanta, Ga., May 12.—The young lady whose case has been reported from Paris as having been investigated by United States Consul General Gowdy appears to be Miss Belle Crane, of Decatur, a suburb of Atlanta, whose father is a prominent business man here. He has recently received a cablegram from Consul General Gowdy, but the exact nature of the message he is at present unwilling to give out. Miss Crane was formerly a student at Agnes Scott college, Decatur, and is well known and popular in this city and Decatur.

SECRETARY TAFT IS ABLE TO BE OUT

Washington, May 12.—Secretary of War Taft was up and around early this morning and about 10 o'clock went riding. He seemed to be in excellent spirits and to have suffered no particular inconvenience on account of the canterization of his throat, which was done last night. It is his intention to leave this afternoon for the Adirondacks for a few weeks rest.

CZAR

Depressed and Wants to Abdicate

RUSSIANS ALSO ARE SAID TO BE ANXIOUS TO CHANGE

The Monarchy to Another Form of Government.

OMINOUS RUMORS FROM CAPITAL

Give Rise to Belief That Nicholas May Have Foes Other Than the Japanese.

Liverpool, May 12.—(Bulletin.)—The Post today asserts that a report has reached London from a high quarter in St. Petersburg that the Czar is suffering from great mental depression and is desirous of abdicating.

RUSSIANS WANT A CHANGE.

Vienna, May 12.—Russian advices received here today assert that the conviction is growing among the intellectual classes of Russia that the country has had a decided sufficiency of absolutism. The eyes of the Czar, it is asserted, will soon be opened to this fact and his majesty will be led of his own initiative to give the empire a constitution and call a parliament.

ARE DESTROYING DOCKS.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—(Bulletin.)—Viceroy Alexieff telegraphs that, preparatory to the evacuation of Port Dalny, all the docks and material that would be useful to the enemy are being blown up and destroyed.

GIRL DIED

And Baker, Who Was Said to Be Responsible, Ended His Own Life, Wednesday.

Napoleon, O., May 12.—Fred Baker, a saloon keeper, of Holgate, committed suicide Wednesday by taking poison.

Some time ago Baker became on intimate terms with a girl of good family. She was sent to a hospital in Toledo. She returned home and died. This fact bore heavily on Baker's mind and a week ago he suddenly left for parts unknown leaving behind a wife and three children.

Tuesday his wife went away to spend the night, and upon her return Wednesday she was horrified to find her husband in bed, dead. A note was found upon his person dated at St. Louis saying that he had been relieved of his watch and money, and a physician's statement that he had a bad case of heart trouble.

It is stated that the parents of the girl were about to swear out a warrant for Baker's arrest on the charge of murder. It is believed that this news reached him and he sought death rather than be arrested.

A good story is never improved by retelling it.

No man is required to wrong himself to do another a favor.

BOLD BURGLARS

Force Entrance Into a Store at Lock by Breaking a Glass—Place Looted.

Lock, O., May 12.—For the second time within the past few weeks, burglars entered the store of W. H. Mitchell of this place. Sometime Tuesday night or Wednesday morning the robbers broke a glass in the front door of the store and in this manner gained an entrance to the room. Several pairs of shoes were stolen and other small articles. No money was stolen and as far as can be determined the loss is not great. There is no clue whatever to the robbery.

FIREMEN

Had Narrow Escape From Cremation at Chicago—Were Rescued Just in Nick of Time.

Chicago, May 12.—Five men narrowly escaped death in a burning building at 51 Institute place Wednesday. When the firemen arrived the three upper floors of the structure, which is occupied by cabins and piano makers, were blazing hotly. Three firemen climbed ladders to the third floor and forced their way into the center of the building. Finding the heat too great, they tried to go back and then discovered the door caught by falling wreckage. When ten minutes passed and the three men did not appear, other firemen went to the rescue and carried them from the building. They were soon revived.

A few minutes later two pipemen were on the roof, when it gave way. They saved themselves by clinging to the wall until ladders could be put up to them. The loss is $25,000.

ASKED MOTHER THEN ACCEPTED

John F. Wallace Sought Advice of His Mother

Before He Agreed to Preside Over the Greatest Engineering Feat of Modern Times.

Wooster, O., May 12.—The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world and the mother of John F. Wallace, who Tuesday accepted the position of Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal, will be known to history as the woman who presided in a way over the destinies of the greatest engineering feat in modern times. She cast the die that molded the mood in which her husband accepted the appointment.

After the place had been offered to him by President Roosevelt he left Washington for Wooster to consult his mother, determined to accept only on condition that she approved. Mrs. Wallace is 72 years old. He told her of the President's request that he take the engineering post and spoke of what it involved. "Shall I accept?" he asked. "It rests entirely with you," Mrs. Wallace thought of the eight or ten years' absence, of the disease and dangers that the work involved, of her own years and of the probability that she should never see her son again, but she answered, "It is your duty; go." Thereupon Mr. Wallace wired his acceptance.

A correspondent Wednesday evening, in company with Judge Frank Taggart, a brother-in-law of John F. Wallace, called at the home of Mrs. David M. Wallace. The white-haired lady had just returned to her cozy cottage from prayer meeting in the church where her late husband had preached for a number of years, and where the children attended services. When questioned, she replied: "When John was at home Saturday the first thing he said when he came into the house, was: 'Mother, I have come to take you home with me. I am going to Panama, and I want you to visit us before I leave.'"

"I then said: 'I don't want you to go. I want to keep all my children at home.' After we had talked the matter over I said that I believed that it would be a good thing for him to go. I knew that he was greatly interested in engineering, and especially so in the great work in Panama. Besides, during the last few years he has been doing work not to his taste. I was aware of this, and knowing that the duties he would be called upon to perform would be more congenial, and that his position would be more independent, I said that I thought he had better accept."

MRS. RACHEL HARTMEYER.

Zanesville, O., May 12.—After an illness lasting only a few days, caused by a stroke of apoplexy, Mrs. Rachel Hartmeyer, one of the oldest residents in the city, died at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the residence of her son, August W. Hartmeyer, on Linden avenue.

Discretion should always be observed in selecting the victim of a joke.

JURY

Not Yet Secured in Gillespie Trial

GREAT LEGAL BATTLE CON- TINUES IN MURDER CASE

Defendants Entered Pleas in Bar Thursday.

WERE PROMPTLY OVERRULED.

The Court Adjourned to Allow Time to Hunt Up Nine Special Veniremen Who Failed to Appear.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 12.—A jury has not yet been secured to try James Gillespie and his co-defendants for the murder of Elizabeth Gillespie. The special venire was exhausted at noon with 11 men in the jury box. Three on the original jury have been challenged. Nine men of the special venire failed to respond and the court adjourned to allow time to hunt up the delinquents. Another legal shot was fired at noon by the defense by renewing the fight on the jeopardy question in a new way. The defense contends that the defendants were in jeopardy once, after the jury was sworn, and that they cannot be placed again in jeopardy by reason of the court's decision, allowing re-examination of jurors. Pleas in bar were filed for each defendant. The state demurred and the court sustained the demurrer.

PRESIDENT'S PLANS

Roosevelt Will Be Exclusive at Oyster Bay and Will Receive No Delegations While There.

Washington, May 12.—President Roosevelt's plans for the summer were announced by Secretary Lord Wednesday. They are tentative, but probably will be carried out as follows:

The president will go to Oyster Bay about July 1, remaining there until after he receives the official notification of the choice of the Republican convention. Then he expects to return to Washington for a stay of two or three weeks, returning then to Oyster Bay and remaining there until shortly after the middle of September. It is announced that the president will not receive any delegations at Oyster Bay and that he will only receive those visitors on political matters who come through the national committee. All other visitors to be received at Oyster Bay will be limited to those whose missions are on official business.

The thoroughly honest man needs no certificate of character.

The lessons of history are too often learned when it is too late.

COLUMBUS MEN

Incorporate and Will Compete in the Airship Contest at the World's Fair.

Columbus, O., May 12.—The Columbus Air Navigation company, incorporated Wednesday by F. W. Schumaker, president of the Columbus board of trade, Harry E. Armstrong, A. E. Pate, Geo. Francis Myers and E. L. Lockhart, will begin without delay the construction of an airship to participate in the competition at the St. Louis exposition. It is expected the machine will be ready for the initial trials early in July.

In character the proposed airship will be an aeroplane of 40 feet in diameter, equipped with two 40-horse power engines, and a balloon for raising it. By that latter feature starts may be made from any point. The machine will weigh, complete, about 1,600 pounds, its propelling power being one horse power to each five pounds of weight.

ACCIDENT

WAS THE CAUSE OF EDWARD L. WENTZ'S DEATH.

Coroner's Jury So Decides Wednesday Evening, But Father Still Believes Young Man Was Murdered.

Big Stone Gap, Va., May 12.—A mystery so deep that no evidence tends to throw any light in the least on it—that which surrounds the cause for young Edward L. Wentz going into the Black Mountain on October 11, when he met his fate. No reason whatever has been given for his being there, or what business called him to that point. The coroner's jury Wednesday rendered a verdict that he met death by accidental discharge of his own revolver. The physicians and a number of witnesses were examined, but nothing developed to show why he should have killed himself. The body of the young millionaire was taken to Philadelphia this morning. At Bristol the casket was covered with beautiful floral tributes from the Helston club, of which he was a highly esteemed member. No reasons have yet been given why he resigned his position with the Virginia Coal and Iron company as general manager, or why he locked his doors up and fastened his house so securely before leaving the morning of his disappearance.

The verdict of the jury was handed down at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Father Says It Was Murder.

Philadelphia, May 12.—The remains of Edward L. Wentz arrived in this city late last night. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wentz, father and mother of the murdered man, arrived Wednesday morning. Mr. Wentz said: "It is ridiculous to talk of suicide. When he left home he carried no weapons. All the revolvers he owned have been accounted for and are at his home in Stone Gap. The statements that he had business differences with me are absurd. He was perfectly happy and contented with his lot. In my opinion the body was placed where it was found after the search was relaxed. Edward was murdered."

President Worker of the miners, is hopeful that other operators will sign this week.

FIGHT

Precipitated in Y. M. C. A. Convention

AN EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO LIMIT POWERS

Of the International Committees in District Affairs.

HELEN GOULD ARRIVED TODAY,

And, With Other Prominent Person- ages, Will Attend the Convention —Triennial Report Is Gratifying.

Pittsford, N. Y., May 12.—The thirty-fifth convention of the International Y. M. C. A. of North America opened here yesterday with an interesting fight on its hands. The fight did not appear in the open convention, but it was revealed in a secret session of the railroad department delegates last night and ended at 12:10 o'clock this morning. The question at issue is as to the powers of the state committees and the international committee. Some of the state committees are jealous of the extent to which it is handling matters in their respective territories and they seek to clip its powers. Friends of the international committee say by reason of its prestige the international committee is able to accomplish more in the states than the state committees themselves and that the international committee should at least be allowed to remain all its present powers.

The matter may come before the convention in an incidental way today, but tomorrow it will come up for determination in the shape of a majority and minority report by the committee of 21 appointed by the last international convention in Boston.

The most interesting figure at the convention will arrive this morning in the person of Miss Helen M. Gould, of New York. She will come from St. Louis in a private car, accompanied by half a dozen women friends. Several receptions have been arranged in honor of Miss Gould.

Vice presidents, S. T. Williams, Montreal; A. E. Haynes, Minnesota; Frank E. Sicksels, Buffalo; Frank Strong, Kansas; John L. Wheat, Kentucky; Wm. E. Swete, Colorado; Joseph Ramsey, Jr., who is president of the Wabash railroad; secretary, H. W. Stone, Oregon; assistant secretary, Frank H. Hart, Illinois, and George E. Williams, Chicago.

Chairman Rogers introduced Mr. McFarland, the newly elected president. Mr. McFarland read a letter of regret from President Roosevelt. A gigantic banquet was given to the 1,100 delegates at City Convention hall last evening. It probably was the largest banquet ever served in a hall in Buffalo.

Today's program includes business sessions in the morning and afternoon at the Central Presbyterian church and a popular session at City Convention hall in the evening. The triennial report shows: Associations, 1,800; members, 250,477; value of buildings, $26,250,000.

Horse Has Recovered.

Union Station, O., May 12.—One of the fine gray horses belonging to the Century brewery, had a narrow escape to death a few days ago. The animal slipped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the foot for some distance, and it was not until Wednesday, under the treatment of Veterinary Surgeon W. R. Tracy, however, the animal was saved, and is now rapidly recovering.

Dangerous Dogs Killed.

The valuable Dane dog belonging to Mr. Fred W. Seiler was killed on Wednesday. Some years ago Fritz purchased the animal from George H. Ketcham, of Toledo, paying $50 for him. He was considered a very fine animal, but was getting old and cross, and it was deemed advisable to kill him. His bull pup, "Gypsy," who was addicted to the habit of killing chickens, was also disposed of. Dr. Jones, the veterinary surgeon, dispatched both of them.

UNION LABEL

A Chicago paper thinks that six thousand miles from St. Petersburg to Manchuria is too long a distance to send troops to run all the way back.

It is now figured out that at the present rate of output, England's coal will afford a supply for manufacturing and industries for 371 years. This is more assuring than some other estimates that have recently been made.

The nomination of Joseph W. Folk for Governor of Missouri by the Democratic State convention now seems to be entirely assured, and it looks as though the honor might be conceded to him unanimously. His nomination will do much credit to the good sense and honesty of the mass of the Missouri Democrats, and cannot fail to greatly strengthen the party in that State and also in the Nation.

Shape of Tariff Discussion in This Campaign.

The indications are that the sound principle that no more should be charged American consumers of American products than is exacted of foreign consumers is a true statement of the shape the tariff discussion will take in the coming presidential campaign. The argument has been unexpectedly reinforced by a private letter which Mr. Charles M. Schwab, of the steel trust, wrote to Mr. Frick, a Pittsburgh manufacturer, and which was printed as part of recent tariff debate in Congress. Several great railroad companies have recently made large contracts for rails to be delivered during the present year, agreeing to pay $28 a ton for them. Mr. Schwab in his letter to Mr. Frick, read in the debates in Congress, asserted that the steel and rail trust could probably sell steel rails in this country for $16 a ton, and further that the trust could successfully compete with the British producers in their home market for not only rails at $19 a ton, but for other steel manufactures, and especially structural steel, at much lower figures than the latter are sold for in the United States to American consumers.

Of course Schwab and Frick were well informed, and knew what they were talking about. It explains the great wealth of the trust and steel barons, and the enormous dividends they are enabled to declare. These are exacted from the American consumers, while lower figures are accepted from foreigners. Mr. Schwab makes it plain that American steel rails are sold to foreign consumers and purchasers at $12 a ton less than to the American consumer. Some people would call this stealing under the forms of law. But don't be hasty. It is simply protection to American labor—heaven save the mark!—for the enrichment of the trusts.

After studying and understanding these facts, how American consumers are plucked and plundered by the coalition of tariff and trust robbers, the resolutions of the Iowa Democratic State convention adopted on Wednesday hit the nail on the head with truthfulness and exactness:

We recognize in the predatory trusts the greatest danger that has ever threatened the life of the Nation and the welfare of the people, and denounce their scheme of levying tribute upon all producers and consumers as a modern system of brigandage, which, while masquerading under a cloak of the law, in fact makes of law a mockery and of justice a farce. We denounce the vicious tariff system fostered and perpetuated by the Republican party under which the trusts have been born, bred and fattened, and the species multiplied until they have every industrial and commercial interest by the throat and we demand the repeal of every tariff which denies "equal opportunity for all."

DISTRESSING STOMACH DISEASE Quickly cured to stay cured by the masterly power of Drake's Palmetto Wine. Invalids no longer suffer from this dread malady, because this remarkable remedy cures absolutely every form of stomach trouble. It is a cure for the whole world of stomach weakness and constipation, as well as a regulator of the kidneys and liver. Only one dose a day, and a cure begins with the first dose. No matter how long or how much you have suffered you are certain of a cure with one small dose a day of Drake's Palmetto Wine, and to convince you of this fact we have placed test bottles at the drug stores given below for free distribution for every person who desires to make a thorough test of this splendid tonic Palmetto remedy.

READ WHAT OTHER PEOPLE SAY ABOUT DRAKE'S PALMETTO WINE:

J. W. MOORE, Monticello, Minn., writes: "Four bottles of Drake's Palmetto Wine cured me of a terrible case of Bladder and Kidney Trouble. I suffered ten years and spent hundreds of dollars with the best doctors and specialists and got no benefit. I am a well man again and cannot thank you enough. I have recommended Drake's Palmetto Wine to nine persons who are now taking it with good results. One young woman in Monticello was given up to die with Bladder Trouble by a Minneapolis specialist and he and our local doctor said they could do no more for her. Her father got a bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine, and she has now taken it a week and is rapidly recovering. I write this out of gratitude to you, and you are at liberty to publish it if you wish to."

J. W. BROWN, Kaskia, Ill., writes: "I had Stomach Trouble 25 years. Had vomiting spells and threw up pus and blood, and would get so weak I could not walk. I was that way when I used your trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine, and had given up hope of ever getting any relief at all. I used the trial bottle, got four large bottles and used them. I am glad to say my stomach is all right and I feel like a new man. You don't know how a person suffers when afflicted as I was, nor what a relief is experienced when cured."

JAMES G. GRAY, Gibson, Mo., writes about Drake's Palmetto Wine as follows: "I live in the Missouri swamps in Dunklin County and have been sick with Malaria fever, and for fifteen months a walking skeleton. One bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine has done me more good than all the medicine I have taken in that fifteen months. I am buying two more bottles to stay cured. Drake's Palmetto Wine is the best medicine and tonic for Malaria, Kidney and Liver ailments I ever used, or heard of. I feel well now after using one bottle."

A. A. FELDING, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "I had a bad case of Sour Stomach and Indigestion. I could eat so little that I was 'falling to bones,' and could not sleep nor attend to business. I used the trial bottle and two large seventy-five-cent bottles and can truthfully say I am entirely cured. I have advised many to write for a free trial bottle."

JAMES MCCARTHY, 149 Breckinridge Street, Detroit, Mich., writes: "I purchased at the drug store a bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine, and find it unsurpassed for kidney trouble, and I am sure it will do all you claim for other complaints. I am recommending it to my friends and wish you every success for your wonderful medicine."

SQUIRE CLARDY, "The Arlington," Hot Springs, Ark., writes: "After using Drake's Palmetto Wine seventeen days I have no sick stomach, and my bowels have become as regular as clockwork, digestion is good once more, and I am gaining in weight. Use this for the good it will do some other sufferer."

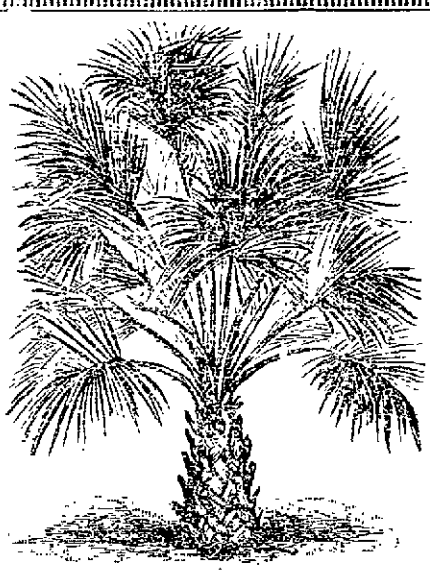

MRS. M. E. GIVENS, Jackson, Tenn., writes: "Drake's Palmetto Wine has relieved my stomach. My son's wife, at Mounts, Ill., was having the doctor wash her stomach out, and could eat only graham bread and drink sweet milk. After taking your Wine can eat anything she wants without hurting her."

R. W. BLACKBURN, Butler, Tenn., writes: "My liver hurt me, I had, right spells. I had to get up seven or eight times every night; my head and stomach were in a dreadful fix. Drake's Palmetto Wine has relieved me of every trouble."

JOHN A. BRWIN, Rockwood, Tenn., writes: "I was a sufferer with my stomach for years and saw many doctors and had my stomach washed out, but got no relief until I began taking your Drake's Palmetto Wine."

A Free trial bottle please be brought health and vigor to you, so you owe it to yourself to write what it will do in your case. Call at following druggist today for a free test bottle.

MRS. MYRA MONTI, Geneva, Wis., writes: "I cannot tell you how much Drake's Palmetto Wine has done me. It is the very best that was ever invented. If I could have had it long ago I might have been saved years of suffering. My stomach and bowels were in dreadful condition. I would have sinking spells, and my bowels would discharge a lot, slimy substance; would feel so bad I wished I might die. Your Palmetto Wine has stopped the fecal matter, and I do not have sinking spells. My bowels are not quite well, but oh, so much better. I truly thank God for the blessing—for a blessing it was to me. I am truly thankful to you, and remain your very grateful friend."

D. MOORE, Geneva, N. Y., writes: "Obtained a bottle of your Drake's Palmetto Wine of our druggist. My wife is deriving much benefit from the Wine for ill with stomach trouble, and the most she has received from any and all other medicines. I also am helped of kidney difficulty. We regard it as an excellent remedy. It has no defects or drawbacks. It does its work quickly, kindly and sweetly, and leaves no evil effects. We take pleasure in speaking of it to others. I went a few days ago to see a sick brother, and took a bottle along, hoping it might benefit him. I am a retired minister of the gospel and 55 years old."

MRS. DANIEL W. NEWTON, Greenfield, Mass., writes: "Mrs. Mary Reese, 74 years of age, has been ill with stomach trouble for a year, and for three months was in very serious condition. I gave her the trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine you sent me, and it gave her great relief. Then she purchased a bottle, and has taken two-thirds of it, and walks a mile every day; can eat anything without any distress; has fine appetite and bowels are regular and thorough."

MRS. SUE A. MAY, Laverne, Ala., writes: "I am the mother of eight children, and have been in bed of health ever since I was married. I had been sick in bed for three months—had physicians every day—when I received your Drake's Palmetto Wine. After taking it for two weeks was able to be up and attend to my work. It is truly a splendid remedy. I will always thank you and my God for such relief."

MISS FLORENCE GORDON, Brainerd, Mo., writes: "I have for several years been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat, until my voice, which was at one time beautiful, was almost ruined. Had sneezing spells which lasted sometimes for two days. Since beginning the use of Drake's Palmetto Wine have not had even a slight attack, and feel sure I am cured."

AURVIL MOODY, Orangeburg, S. C., writes: "After taking your sample bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine I felt a sudden change in my feelings. God bless you in your work. It has done me so much good I am telling it to other suffering people. I only wish every sufferer in the land knew of Drake's Palmetto Wine."

M. T. LANE, Glenoco, Ill., writes: "I have lived in Florida several years, and know from experience the value of Palmetto fruit. Drake's Palmetto Wine has the real taste and result of palmetto. In extreme constipation it relieves without griping and cures."

S. K. BROWN, Easton, Pa., writes: "I have never found the equal of Drake's Palmetto Wine for stomach trouble and constipation, and it is invigorating as a tonic. It is the best and cheapest medicine I have ever found."

MRS. V. L. ARNOLD, Wales, Mass., writes: "I have taken your Wine for inflammation of the bladder and am cured of that trouble, besides feeling much better in every way."

We give you a free bottle to test this wonderful tonic Palmetto medicine. It is a boon to disease-laden, pain-ridden men and women.

THE RAILWAYS

DISTINGUISHED PARTY OF B. & O. MEN IN COLUMBUS

Personally inspecting the Improvements Made East of the Depot—Local Railroad Notes.

Several important Baltimore and Ohio railroad men were in town yesterday, inspected the local yards and new work just started and left in the afternoon, returning East on Baltimore and Onic No. 104.

In the party were General Superintendent F. J. Foley, L. R. Brockenbaugh, general freight agent of the lines west of the Ohio, and F. C. Batchelder, superintendent at Newark.

The purpose of the visit here was to acquire a personal knowledge of the changes that are to be made in the local Baltimore and Ohio yards. The most important move is the installation of four tracks extending from Cleveland avenue to the Norfolk and Western crossing. To permit of this change the present interlocking plant at Leonard avenue is to be abandoned. It goes out of service at 7 o'clock this morning. From then on, until the new plant is placed in service, all the switches until now controlled from the tower will be turned by hand.

The plans provide for a new electric interlocking plant to control all the switches, both now existing and to be laid, and this plant is expected to be ready in about six weeks, though it may require longer than that. This will be the first electric interlocking plant in this vicinity. Work will be advanced as fast as possible on all the improvements now being made.—State Journal.

Railroad Appraisement.

The county auditors completed their appraisement of the Pittsburg and Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines Wednesday morning. The main line is assessed at $25,000 per mile between Steubenville and Newark. Between Newark and Columbus the main line is assessed at the same figure, but the B. & O. will pay the assessment. The main line of the Cadiz branch is assessed at $7,000 per mile. The second track is appraised at $7,500 per mile. Sidings, $3,500 per mile except between Columbus and Newark, where the appraisement is made $1,750 per mile. The rolling stock is appraised at $8,100 per mile and moneys and credits at $1,500 per mile.

Good Outlook for the Railroads.

The beginning of the end of the decreases in the earnings of the Hocking Valley, T. & O. C. and other coal roads appeared Wednesday morning when word came from Toledo that the first boat of lake coal was being loaded at the T. & O. C. docks. This is the first shipment bound for the northwest this season. Last year navigation to the northwest opened early in April and many thousands tons had been shipped before May 1. The late opening this year is due to the severe winter, which froze the waters in the northwest solid, and has been further delayed by the failure of the ship-owners to come to an agreement with their pilots. Shipments could have begun a week ago but for the latter cause. One machine and the day shift of men are being worked now at the T. & O. C. dock.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth?

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vasoline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

FATHER

RESCUED HIS FOUR-YEAR-OLD SON FROM DEATH.

The Lad Had Fallen Down a Well 50 Feet Deep and Was Nearly Killed.

New Lexington, O., May 12.—Crawford Daily, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Daily, had an almost miraculous escape from a terrible death Wednesday forenoon. The child, an old deep well. The presence of mind and prompt action of Mr. Daily, who was fortunately nearby, saved the child's life.

Mr. Daily and Tom Allen were attending to some gas fitting work at the Stallsmith residence on Church street, and the little fellow was playing about the yard.

In walking over the covering of the well a rotten board broke through, precipitating him into the water beneath. There was a splash and the broken plank told the story of what happened.

With great presence of mind, Mr. Daily descended into the well by clinging to the rough stones in the walls. He soon had his son in his arms. In the meantime Tom Allen had also gone down into the well to where he could reach Crawford and pull him up to Mrs. Stallsmith, who was at the mouth of the well. The child was unconscious when rescued and was hurried to Dr. McTeague's office, where he was resuscitated.

The child's rescue is considered almost miraculous from the fact that the well is nearly 50 feet deep. It is his rescue had been delayed another minute it would have been too late.

"Batter Up."

WHO cares who'll head the Democratic ticket? Who cares who'll be the coming White House tenant? We only know the season's gain, and we know our club is going to win the pennant.

Why, sure we will—At least until Percentages are reckoned. And it's "Vote, w. w. And watch him now!" And "Shoot the ball to second!"

Who cares if Jap or Russian win their game? (Unless they use baseball instead of canister.) Our club will climb the steps which lead to fame.

And never hint that they may sude the banister! For on the day That starts the play, Let's all crowd in cheer. And let's "Batter Up!"

Good bye! Good bye! And "Make him pitch over!" Oh, literature and art may be divine, But love of baseball is so much more rational. 'Tis true the muse has a famous nine, But was the bunch "American" or "National?"

And could they play The game today? And bat or stop 't' liners? For it's "Oh, oh!" You're slow! You're slow! Go back and join the runners! —Detroit News.

Wise Girl. Edwin (in the conservatory)—Ah, here's where we understand "The Dolly Dialogues."

Hints For Heading Off The Inquisitive Boy

AN ingenious father of a boy who asks questions has, after much experimenting and the expenditure of a deal of precious thought, succeeded in inventing a system whereby he is able to answer his son intelligently and with comparatively little effort for hours at a stretch and without the slightest embarrassment.

For instance, the boy asks: "Paper, who made that tree grow?" The ingenious father answers: "God."

"Why did God make it grow?" "Because he wished to make the world more beautiful."

"Why did he wish to make the world more beautiful?" "Because he saw a place where a tree ought to stand."

"Why did he see a place where a tree ought to stand?" "Because he wished to make the world more beautiful."

"But why did he wish to make the world more beautiful?" "Because he saw that place where a tree ought to stand."

Thus the matter becomes one of mere physical endurance. The system works as well on one subject as another. Let us suppose that the boy asks:

"Father, why does that man wear a goatee?"

"Because," answers the father, "he thinks it improves his looks."

"Why does he think it improves his looks?" "Because he is foolish."

"Why is he foolish?" "Because he thinks his goatee improves his looks."

"But why does he think it improves his looks?" "Because he is foolish."

"Well, why is he foolish?" "Because he thinks his goatee improves his looks."

"But why does he think it improves his looks?" "Because he is foolish."

The system may not be as elaborate as some of those devised to break the bank at Monte Carlo, but it is far more productive of gratifying results. With a little practice any weary father can operate it successfully, and we shall be disappointed if it is not speedily recognized as one of the inestimable boons conferred upon mankind.—Chicago Record-Herald.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The southern states are producing half the lumber cut in America.

Considering our exports by countries, the largest total is to the United Kingdom, $524,263,000; the next largest to Germany, $103,842,000, and to Canada, $123,267,000.

A factory has been established in Louisiana for the utilization of the waste from sugar cane. It will be made into berry baskets, boxes, railroad car seats and panels.

The value of the farm animals in the United States, as shown by the agricultural department, is: Horses, $1,000,000,000; mules, $200,000,000; cattle, $1,300,000,000; sheep, $408,000,000, and hogs, $355,000,000.

A plant for boiling whales which cost $1,000,000 is in operation in Newfoundland. Every ounce of the whale is used in the manufacture of oil, stearin, bone meal or bones and other articles of commerce.

SHORT STORIES.

The payroll of the navy is $20,000,000 a year.

More than 10 per cent of all Jewish immigrants are tailors.

Public benefactions in America during ten years aggregate $610,410,000.

That the cost of living has increased 50 per cent in ten years is shown by Dun's Index.

A seven-month-old pig killed at Pine River, N. H., recently dressed 300 pounds. At four weeks old the animal weighed just four pounds.

All the Mocha and Java coffee coming to this country is for private orders, says Dr. Wiley of the department of agriculture, and hardly a pound is sold over store counters.

PLEASING MILLINERY.

Becoming and Effective Hats—Turbanas Match the Street Gown.

A bit of cleverness is this picturesque chip-out of parma violet straw, the brim curled up slightly at one side and bent down close on to the head at the back, the crown encircled by a closely packed wreath of parma violets, into which small pale pink roses are tucked at intervals, a perfected simplicity that is the real name of smartness.

Attractive originality stamps it a little tricolor of navy straw as a trousseau in its way. Luckily chic and unique are the two flat elongated bows that catch up the brim at the crown, the one of navy ribbon, the other in delicate mauve. A cluster of mauve rosebuds supports the right side of the front, a longer wreath of shaded pink blooms performing a like service to the other.

Turbanas to match the tailor made street gown are quite the most correct thing, while the broad picture hats are also popular. The white hat promises to be a delightful feature of the season and is carried out in straw or lace or, newer still, figures as the charming "fingerie hat" in mull, batiste or chiffon.

The deft manipulation of the ostrich feather by which it is made to curl over on its back, is drawn through the hat brim and otherwise disposed in most unusual fashion is one of the novel millinery features of the season. ETHEL W. BUSBY.

How to Clean and Pack Woolens.

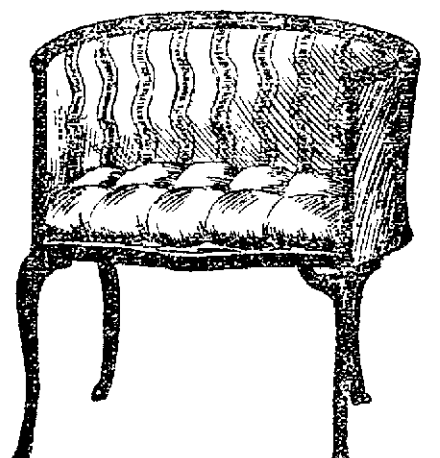

For cleaning clothes that are to be packed away select a sunny, windy day, advises Thida Turk. Put every garment on the clothesline and after the pockets have been turned inside out, the garments whipped free from dust, let them hang for two or three hours in the sun. There is no better disinfectant than sunshine and fresh air. If a garment needs sponging have on hand the following preparation: Japanese cleaning cream, one quarter pound of castile soap, one-quarter pound ammonia, one ounce ether, one ounce alcohol. Cut the soap fine and dissolve in one quart of boiling soft water. Add four quarts cold water and the other ingredients.

Dress skirts with a wrinkle less if folded right side out. Dresses should be carefully folded in newspapers, each one separately, and placed in the drawers or trunks, with a good sprinkling of cloves between them. In folding men's garments care should be used. Fill the sleeves with folded newspapers and put a few cloves in each pocket.

A little investment of time and labor will bring good returns in the fall, or even such packages may be left for years without fear if they are not needed for use. Seal all boxes air tight by pasting strips of paper about the cover. It is a good plan to put away a few articles every week as they are laid aside and cleaned. This makes the work far less of a task.

A Graceful Chair.

An unusual or exceptionally attractive bit of furniture is always of interest to the home maker. Very effective in the way of a chair is the oval specimen here shown. With graceful frame of polished mahogany and most delicate silk covering it will fit delightfully into almost any scheme of furnishing.

Transparent Picture Coats. Transparent coats that may be worn over a variety of linings or slips are quite popular. Now comes the smart little transparent picture coat to be worn over the silk waist and forming, with the skirt, a useful and stylish afternoon costume. An attractive one is in silk velveteen of that light grayish blue that which for some reason promises to be one of the "smart" colors of the season.

Room For Two. It was meant—very meant—but every thin man has a grudge against every fat man, especially in a street car.

The thin man in this case was uncomfortable because the fat man happened over on him, and a Jovian light appeared in his eyes when two ladies entered.

"The thing to do," said the thin man, addressing no one in particular, "is to arrange matters so as to give comfort to the greatest number at the cost of discomfort to the fewest people possible."

He looked at the fat man, but the latter was absorbed in his paper.

"Until we have sectional ladies," the thin man went on, "it would be only an aggravation for a man of my size to surrender his seat."

He looked at the fat man again, but there was no response.

"It's one to two," he said. Then he poked the fat man in the ribs. "How obtuse you are!" he complained. "In the economy of comfort it is better for one to stand than for two. Why don't you get up and give the ladies your seat?"

Some day, when the fat man and the thin man are sitting side by side again, the fat man is going inadvertently to bury the thin man under his mass of flesh.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Tibet has been called the "roof of the world" from the fact that for the most part it consists of a plateau with an average elevation of from 14,000 to 16,000 feet.

This is a mighty mountain barrier, everywhere sealed with huge rents, is full of these native temples, and the bridges, which are built with great ingenuity, span the deep gorges.

It is the custom of the Russians to turn over such of these wretches as are taken prisoners to the Chinese authorities, who usually give them short shrift and a sharp sword. After decapitation the heads are hung up in cages attached to poles as a terrible warning to evil doers.

Henry Acted His Part, But It Didn't Please Her

"NOW, Henry," said the bride, "I want you to understand distinctly that I do not wish to be taken for a bride. I am going to act exactly as if I were an old married woman. So, dearest, do not think me cold and unloving if I treat you very practically when there is anybody by."

"I don't believe I can pass for an old married man," said Henry. "I am so fond of you that I am bound to show it. I am sure to betray myself."

"No, you mustn't. It's easy enough. And I insist that you behave just like all old married men do. Do you hear?"

"Well, darling, I'll try, but I know I shall not succeed."

On the first evening of their arrival at their hotel the bride retired, and the groom fell in with a wistful party, with whom he sat playing cards until 4 o'clock in the morning. His wife spent the weary hours in weeping. At last he turned up and met his grief-stricken bride with the hilarious question: "Well, ain't I doing the old married man like a daisy?"

She never referred to the subject again, and everybody in future knew that they had just been married.

Naughty Johnny. A small boy in a country school dropped his slate so many times during school hours that the teacher finally said:

"Johnny, we cannot stand so much noise from you. This noon take your slate home." Early in the afternoon the teacher again heard Johnny's slate go "bang" upon the floor.

"Johnny," she said severely, "did I not tell you to take your slate home?" "Yes," replied the lad. "I did take it home."

"Then how comes it here?" asked the teacher.

"Why," said Johnny, "I brought it back again."

Will-o'-the-Wisp

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

"Me? I'm going to be will-o'-the-wisp." Margery said airily to the horror of every soul but one in her mother's sitting room. Elwood's social leaders were gathered there, deep in discussion of the fancy dress lawn party to be given at St. Christy's for the benefit of the church guild. Since the rectory adjoined the church proper there was quite a stretch of turf and shrubbery available. Therefore Mrs. Lawson, head of the broad faction in St. Christy's, had been for having daylight, with tennis and archery, of course for prizes. But Miss Gerard, the leading spirit among the high church folk, had outgeneraled Mrs. Lawson and won over the powers that were to her pet scheme of lighted greenery, booths, flower girls and fortune telling.

"H'm! What will you do?" Mrs. Lawson asked severely. "It has been my impression all along that the costumes should be subservient to the well, the general effect."

Margery laughed happily. "You are quite right," she said. "Never fear, but I shall be busy enough. It will be my province to lure in unwary travelers and lead them on to financial destruction."

"Margery, how can you?" Mrs. Chase's eyes rested on her daughter full of severe reproof. Mrs. Lawson sniffed hard, but Miss Gerard came gallantly to the rescue, saying: "You must have been born for the part, Margery. I don't know anybody—at least, any masculine body—who could possibly refuse to follow if you wanted to lead him—and we all know it's the men and their money we are after."

"Disgusting!" Mrs. Lawson said aside to her echo, Miss Clare, under cover of the general laughter. Margery flung a kiss at Miss Gerard, saying sweetly: "Thanky, ma'am! You have no need to dress up. You've been everybody's fairy godmother so long you can't possibly be anything else."

"Come home with me! Ned must design your costume. I want him to became down here because he was bewitched with her and knew she was staying at Belmont. You know that is just six miles off. You have charmed my boy into forgetting her. I do believe. If you will really do that to you shall have half my fortune."

"I'll do it for nothing," Margery flashed back with a laugh. Her lights were out. She had used them so prodigally the tiny battery cells were exhausted. Ned had been very happy over contriving them and slinging them in a silver lantern from Margery's waist. He came toward the two women now without seeing them—they were sunk in a deeply embowered nook of the shrubbery. Miss Gerard gave Margery's hand a caressing pat, saying affectionately as she nodded toward her nephew: "He's a good fellow, Margery, and good looking—besides, you know you'll really like being mistress of Firstanes—after me."

"I suit that place better," a voice harsh and hoarse with anger said behind them. The shrubbery parted violently, letting through an overblown blond in gorgeous Greek costume, who ran on as she shouldered between the other two. "I know all about your plot—also that Firstanes is entailed. Ned Gerard will marry me—nobody else! Marry me just as soon as my beast of a husband dies, and he cannot possibly last another year. Try as you may, madam, your will-o'-the-wisp shall not lead him away from me."

The last words were shrieked out. At the sound of them Ned hurried toward the group, flushing with shame, yet his mouth setting hard in the obstinate Gerard line. He took hold of the woman and made to lead her away, saying almost roughly: "So this is how you keep your word! You promised me on honor to stay at the inn. Get back there! At once, do you hear? Otherwise—you will not see me again."

"If you come with me," the woman said defiantly, wrenching herself from his hold and folding her arms, her large eyes fast upon him in a hypnotic stare. Miss Gerard stepped between them, her face very white. "Get this—creature—away—anyhow—Edward," she said very low, the words coming hard. "Let us have—no blatant scandal—for the sake of—the Gerard name."

"Come!" Ned said imperatively, not even holding out a hand to the woman. She made one step after him, then sprang furiously at Margery, who stood apart with averted eyes, clutching the lantern at her waist, tore it loose, swung it high above her head and brought it crashing down with all her force, aiming to strike with it Margery's crescent crowned forehead. Ned was too quick for her. With a wheeling swoop he interposed his own person and caught the blow fairly between the eyes. It sent him down like a log, breathless, senseless, inert. After one look at him the woman who had struck him ran screaming away. People rushed in from every hand, but Miss Gerard waved them back. "Fetch the doctor—quickly! There has been an accident!" she said. "Not serious, I think. The—strange lady who saw it is easily frightened."

Margery knelt beside the prostrate figure, dabbling its face with water and crying softly. So Ned saw her when he came back to consciousness. He tried to rise, but she made him lie still until the doctor came. He was not very rebellious. The scales had fallen from his eyes. As he lay staring into the darkness, listening to the subdued stir and bustle roundabout him, he saw how near he had come to shipwreck in his worship of an unscrupulous woman.

If he had been a hero of romance he would have made it up with sweet Margery then and there. Being a manly mortal, deeply abased by the crowding sense of his own folly, he did not speak until three years later, when by hard work he had proved himself a man among men. Of course she said yes. Was he not her fairy prince? And, whether or not they will live happy ever after, this much is certain—the world outside will hear no news of disagreements.

The English Vocabulary. The ordinary English vocabulary may be said to contain from 30,000 to 50,000 words, the latter estimate being large. Shakespeare, whose vocabulary is larger than that of any other English poet, unless it be Browning, used about 15,000 words, while Milton, whose range was narrower, employed only about half that number. The common estimate of the average vocabulary of educated people is from 5,000 to 6,000, but in this case the number of words which are known, but not used, is enormously increased. A well read college graduate should be familiar with perhaps 100,000 words, while in the course of a year he might not use 5,000 of them in his writing or conversation. Shorthand reporters find about 2,500 word signs and contractions ample for representing the words which are commonly used in public speaking.

Flying Lizards of Borneo. According to the testimony of our most reliable naturalists, the only genus of "flying serpent" now known to inhabit the earth is a family of reptiles which make their homes in the great forests of Borneo, known as the "flying lizard of the south seas." The best known species of this flying saurian is Draco volans leekii, a striped, snake-like lizard about fourteen or fifteen inches in length when full grown. The primary colors of Draco are red and yellow, in bands, dots, crescents and stripes, the red predominating to such an extent that the creatures appear as a carmine rocket when sailing through the air. Some have declared that his wings are "sails," like those of the American flying squirrel, but it is also said "they approach true wings and can be used by the little saurian to glide himself at will."

Miss Gerard was radiant over the party's success. "You're my lucky angel," she said, patting Margery's cheek as they came together for a moment just as the lamps began to dim and the lanterns to sputter out. "The affair is a gorgeous success, thanks to you. And I have been so nervous over it. Thank heaven, that woman kept away!"

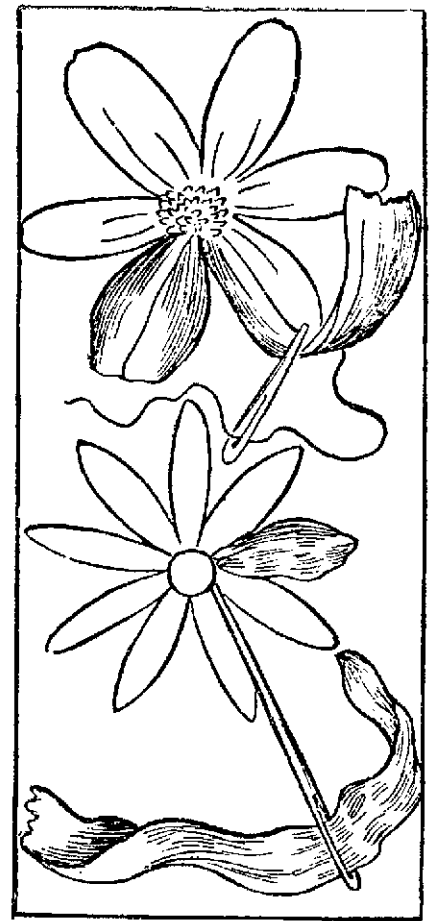

"What woman?" Margery asked under her breath. Miss Gerard answered in the same key: "The Rickman woman—a semidivertness, separated from her husband but not divorced. Ned

RAPID FANCY WORK.

RIBBON EMBROIDERY FOR DRESS GARNITURE AND DECORATION.

A Simple Process Requiring Only Needles, Thread and Ribbon—A Deft Hand and Good Taste the Main Essentials.

Now that all sorts of garnitures—motifs, beadwork, embroideries and the like—are in such high favor in dress, ribbon work comes in also for its share of popularity. Nowadays we want to do things that give best effect with least labor, and the sort of ribbon work in question answers this requirement perfectly. It is very simple, and the illustrations give a clear idea of it. The stock in trade is to be found in nearly every workbasket.

A needle with a rather large eye and an embroidery frame are perhaps the most important items. With the frame one can use materials that would without it be too thin to work on with comfort and accuracy. For backgrounds the choice is unlimited, varying from satin and silk to coarse linen of a sufficiently open texture to permit ribbon to be drawn through. The ribbons themselves are various, one much used being the thin pompadour kind—one-eighth of an inch wide. This is suited to fine and dainty work. A wider ribbon, sometimes variegated or crumpled, is employed for bigger undertakings, as it produces bold effects without very much stitching. A fancy edged ribbon, such as shown in the second cut, is suitable for other styles of work.

The work with the thin baby ribbon and with wide, soft silk or crape ribbon is the same and is done in two ways. The ribbon may be drawn through the material with the needle, as in the upper figure of the first cut, or it may be stitched into position with silk, as in the lower figure. The sketch shows purposely the very simplest flower forms, but much more elaborate effects may be obtained. The use of fancy edged ribbon is different. It is never drawn through the material. The first step is to run a thread through the plain edges, as shown in the second cut, on which to gather it up, and the next is to sew it on.

Some flowers can be worked without once cutting the ribbon. Others, owing to their shape, require the ribbon to be cut at the end of each row of petals, the end of the ribbon being turned under. Stems and usually leaves are worked in filloselle. It is not possible to instruct the worker where and how to give all these little underturns and folds that go to give the exact formation of flowers, but practice and experiment soon make them clear.

Restoring Velvet. According to an exchange, shabby velvet may be restored by mixing two teaspoonfuls of liquid ammonia with half a pint of hot water and applying it to the velvet with a stiff brush, rubbing it well into the pile, so as to take out all the stains and creases. Then hold the velvet over a hot flatiron until the steam raises the pile and it is perfectly dry.

Rice Soup.

SOCIETY GOWN MAKERS.

Young Women of Indianapolis Have a New Fad.

A school for teaching the art of constructing tailor made gowns has been opened in Indianapolis, Ind. There are few pupils in the school who are really pupils in the strict sense of the word, says a dispatch from that city. One or two are taking the full course with the idea of becoming dressmakers, but most of them are society girls who have a fancy for making their own clothes and find the work under instruction much more satisfactory than their own unaided efforts.

"It's lots of fun, really," said one girl, who has taken one of the shorter courses and emerged with a beautiful black tailor suit. "There are always ten or twelve girls, you know, and we have a lot of fun gossiping. It isn't like breaking your back all alone in your sewing room and getting tired to death because you're nothing to think about but your sewing."

Planting Acres of Walnut Trees. Ten acres of walnut trees have recently been planted on the Indiana forestry reservation by Secretary Freeman of the state board of forestry, which are expected to develop into valuable property. In the planting of the seeds the utmost care was taken that they would have the best chance to develop. In preparing the soil Secretary Freeman broke the ground with a sort of heavy sled made of beams and iron, to which was attached a sharp steel plow. The walnuts were buried in sand half full to permit the outside hull to decay and thus facilitate the growth when the seeds were planted permanently. They are expected to be up in a short time, while had they been planted without any preparation it would have been two years before the sprouts appeared above the surface.

The Irishman's Cant Hook.

A farmer, accompanied by several of his hired men, went into the woods one morning in the fall of the year to cut down some trees. When about to begin work it was discovered that the cant hook had been left behind. Turning to one of the men, an Irishman not very long over, the farmer instructed him to drive back to the farm for the missing tool. The Irishman did not know what a cant hook looked like, but was averse to exposing his ignorance, so drove off on his errand, trusting to find some one at the farm who would enlighten him.

At the barn, however, there was no one to help him out of his dilemma. Casting his eyes about the place for the thing which would be most likely to bear the name of "cant hook," he saw a moosey cow with never a sign of a horn upon its head and concluded it was that he had been sent for.

Procuring a rope, he fastened the cow to the rear end of his vehicle and exultantly drove back to the woods.

"What in Sam Hill have you there?" shouted the farmer on seeing his messenger and the cow. "I sent you for a cant hook to use in moving the logs. What have you brought that cow for?" "Be jabers, boss, divil another thing could I see round the barn that can't hook but this!"—Star of Hope.

Little Johnny Again.

Little Johnny was carefully studying a dictionary, and his poor, tired, baldheaded old "pop" had just begun to be comfortable in an armchair, with his cigar and evening newspaper, when the young hopeful broke the peace with:

"Say, pop?"

"Well, my son."

"The courthouse is the place where prisoners are taken, isn't it?"

"Yes, my son."

"Well, why don't they spell it c-a-u-s-e house, then?"

A short period of absolute silence ensued.

"Johnny," said his father, "here it is 9 o'clock, and I have told you half a dozen times that sitting up late is bad for little boys. Go to bed at once!"—New York Evening Telegram.

Last Life.

At Indian Harbor I went aboard the schooner Jolly Crew. It was a raw, foggy day, with a fresh northeast gale blowing and a high sea running outside the harbor. They were splitting fish on the deck; the skiff was just in from the trap; she was still wet with spray.

"I sail with me sons an' grandsons, sur," said the skipper, smiling. "Sure, I be a old feller 't be down the Labrador, isn't I, zur?"

He did not mean that. He was proud of his age and strength—glad that he was still able "t be at the fishin'."

"'Tis a wonder you've lived through it all," said I.

He laughed. "An' why, zur?" he asked.

"Many's the ship wrecked on this coast," I answered.

"Oh, no, zur," said he; "not so many, zur, as you might think. Down this way, zur, we know how 't sail."

That was a sneaky explanation of very much that had puzzled me.

"Ah, well," said I. "'Tis a hard life!"

"Hard?" he asked, dubitantly.

"Yes," I answered. "'Tis a hard life—the fishin'."

"Oh, no, zur," said he quietly, looking up from his work. "'Tis just just life!"—Harper's Magazine.

An Early Tragedy.

The Assyrian nation was in tears.

"What is the matter?" asked her friend.

"Herbert wrote me a seven page love letter and threw it over the garden wall. It was written on the first terra cotta he could find. As page No. 3 struck father, who was asleep on a bench, and now he and Herbert are throwing my love letter back and forth with all their might, and unless a policeman comes party soon I don't believe I'll ever know a word of what was in it!"—Washington Star.

DRESS AND FASHION.

FROCKS AND FRILLS BEWITCHINGLY COMPLEX OR CHARMINGLY SIMPLE.

The Numerous Decorative Details of the Gown of Today—Lovely Notes of Color—Three Very Taking Dresses—A Ripple From Paris.

Delightfully frilly, fluffy and feminine, the fashions for the coming season suggest sunshine and all the charms of an ideal summer. They are good enough for every fortunate contingency and invite no other. The tailor made of course exists for various useful purposes, but "the" gown reveals in soft outlines, fluff, ruffles, fascinating embroideries, graceful gougings and shirrings, mysterious entre deux, bold motifs and ethereal garnitures of chiffon and lace. It takes us back far away from the day of the strenuous woman to the environment of "my lady" of long ago.

Pale yellow with just that little tinge of pink that makes it "possible" is one of the quaint offerings of the season in color. Champagne is too becoming and harmonious in silks, satins and cloth to be given up, although it has been hard run. A combination of several of the "off" shades of white in one costume finds expression. Rose color will be one of the joys of the season either as a foundation for chiffon or other transparent fabrics or as a note of color introduced into some of the tinted white summer gowns.

Two costumes are here shown. One is of light beige, lavishly embroidered with white silk and with a treble row of gathers round the hips. Thick bouillonné encircles the shoulders, vandyked lace edgings veil the fine platings of red lisse on the sleeves and circular yoke in white taffeta striped with red, and there is a draped belt to match. Red chenille tabs with long tassels knotted and sprinkled with straw beads strengthen the color effect. Bones shading from light pink to yellow bedeck the red straw hat, and the parasol is in striped pink china crape.

Very quaint is the gown in water green fouled, striped and figured with white. Lace edgings border the flounces of the skirt and outline the receding shoulder cape, which is lined with duck's egg green. The double jabot and sleeve ruffles, lace ruffles and a full veil of black and white lace adorn the yellow straw hat with turned up brim.

The lovely model of the second cut is conspicuous for its well shaped skirt and close fitting bolero. While it is of distinctly dainty aspect, it expresses that tiny, newest ripple of feeling originating with the Parisienne for a less elaborate, less intricate style of gown.

Household Brevities.

The woman who has "no time for relaxation and systematic exercise" is precisely the woman who most needs to take it.

Beating the cocoa with an egg beater just before taking from the stove is said to be an improvement, and a few drops of vanilla in the cocoa pot will make it still better.

A chart and index of the contents of the attic is the latest suggestion among house cleaning clubs, but, better still, keep as little old stuff stored away as you can conveniently do.

The finishing touch to the dinner is for the hostess to dress the salad at the table.

Make as few soups as possible when broiling the whites of eggs, as they will liquify rapidly again.

The secret of good brown sauce is to brown the butter slowly before adding the flour; then brown both together. It is much easier to punch an egg when you put a teaspoonful of vinegar in the boiling water.

COSHOCKTON DOCTORS ARRESTED

Coshockton, O., May 12.—Dr. Foster, city health officer, has sworn out affidavits against Drs. He will probably have a hearing Thursday. The other two doctors are expected to appear soon.

LETTER

DESCRIBES BURNING TO DEATH OF A BOY

Who Was Thought to Have Lived in Newark, in a Car at Council Bluffs, Iowa

Chief of Police Sheridan has received a letter from Bert Todd, of Zanesville, written at Council Bluffs, Iowa, which contained a clipping from the Omaha News, describing the burning to death of a boy named James Grady, who came from Lafayette, Ind., and three other men, in a car in the Northwestern yards in Council Bluffs. Mr. Todd viewed the remains and thought the boy to have been employed at the Hotel Warden in Newark, but Chief Sheridan has found this supposition to be false.

The letter follows: Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 4. Chief Police, Newark, Ohio:

Sir—I take the liberty to drop you a line to inform you that there were three men and a boy burnt to death at Council Bluffs, Iowa. I viewed the corpse and the boy's face looked familiar, and after reading the inclosed clipping from the Omaha News, lighted my memory, as it was James Grady, that worked at the Hotel Warden last August, so if you investigate I think you can find his parents in Newark instead of Lafayette, Ind.

I notified the undertaker and he said he would consult you and to make sure of it I thought I would drop you a line. Hoping you can locate his parents, I am yours truly,

BERT TODD, of Zanesville, O.

P. S.—You will find inclosed clippings from Omaha, Neb., Evening News.

BRILLIANT WEDDING

Of Miss Emma Heisey and Lieutenant O. H. Dockery on Wednesday Evening in Trinity Episcopal Church—Many Out of Town Guests Attended.

The wedding of Miss Emma Heisey and Lieutenant O. H. Dockery took place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Holy Trinity Episcopal church, it being one of the most elaborately ceremonial events of the kind that ever occurred in Newark. The wedding was military in its appointments and the religious ceremony was entirely coherent with the high church idea. Every feature was according to the edicts of the latest Eastern fashion, there being no bridesmaids. The groom was attended by four of his military friends as ushers, these being Lieut. Rutenauter, of Canton; Lieut. Stone, Lieut. Pond, and Capt. Langdon, of Columbus. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Clarence Heisey, brothers of the bride, were also ushers, and Mr. Settle Dockery, of Raleigh, North Carolina, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. The matron of honor was Mrs. Fred King, sister of the bride.

Mr. C. E. Reynolds presided at the organ in his masterly way, giving a recital of some length before the ceremony. His numbers included the famous "St. Cecilia Offertoire" in F minor. He was assisted by his son Frank, whose rich trombone added point to the Handel Largo and the "Evening Star," from Tannhauser. A very pretty military touch was given by the "Star Spangled Banner," out of compliment to the guests, which preceded the strains of the beautiful Lohengrin wedding march, which announced the wedding party.

The bride, on her father's arm, was preceded by the six ushers and the matron of honor. They marched down the aisle to the chancel where they met the rector, Rev. G. W. Van Fossen, the groom and best man. Here the full Episcopal nuptial ritual was used.

The bride wore a gown of white lace with a bridal veil and carried lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a dress of salmon chiffon and carried roses. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and Easter lilies, together with innumerable candles.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given at the Heisey home on East Main street. The dining room was decorated with yellow roses, the parlors were red roses, lilacs and lilies of the valley. The entire house was decorated with roses and lilies, American flags forming an important part.

At the bride's table were bride and groom, Mr. Settle Dockery, Miss Adams, Mr. Clarence Heisey, Miss Dockery, Lieut. Rutenauter, Miss Fith Duncan, Mr. Wilson Heisey, Miss George Anna Rockhold, Captain Langdon, Miss Agnes Duncan, Lieut. Pond, Miss Amy Duncan, Miss Goldie Friest.

At 12:15 Mr. and Mrs. Lieut. Dockery left for the west. Following this trip they will leave for Alaska, where Lieut. Dockery has been stationed. Those present at the reception were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Robert, Mrs. Robert Davidson and sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Lartener Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Black, and sister Miss Hinkley, of Portland, Maine; Mr. Robert Kelly, Miss Nina Webb, Mr. Frank Webb, Dr. W. C. Rank, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Wright, Miss Hazel Reese of Columbus; Miss Mary Penney, Mrs. Martha Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Merriam of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartholomew, Miss Helen Goldsborough, Miss Lucile Harrington, Miss Nellie McCune, Mrs. B. H. Dennis, Mrs. E. T. Everett, Mr. Willis Robbins and sisters, the Misses Robbins, Miss Emma Spencer, Miss Ann Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fitzgibbon, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ickes and daughter Mrs. Brady.

Those present from a distance were as follows: Mrs. James E. Duncan, Mr. Andrew Duncan, Misses Anna and Agnes Duncan, and Harry Duncan of Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Lee Smith, Mrs. Jas. H. Stewart and Miss Neil Smith of Pittsburg, Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. William J. Sheridan of Sheridan, Pa.; Mrs. David Russell of North Adams, Massachusetts; Miss Goldie Priest of Loudenville, O.; Miss George Anna Rockhold of Bainbridge, O.; Mrs. Frank Armstrong of Wheeling; Miss Adams of Pittsburg, Mrs. Walker and

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Hall's Drug Store. Trial bottles free. Reg. sizes 50c, $1.00.

The office letter paper of an Iowa lawyer bears this piquant salutory: Am the red-headed, smooth-faced, freckled-wounded legal Napoleon of the Slope, and always in the stirrups. SCOTT'S EMULSION makes pale, thin children fat and chubby. Overcomes wasting tendencies and brings back rosy cheeks and bright eyes.

It's surprising how quickly children respond to Scott's Emulsion. It contains just the element of nourishment their little bodies need. They thrive on it.

Even a few drops in the baby's bottle have a noticeable effect for good. Nothing better than Scott's Emulsion for growing children.

Why do substitutes for Scott's Emulsion cost less? Because they're worth less. With one you wait in vain for the benefits you had looked for. In Scott's Emulsion you get them. It never disappoints. That's worth the few cents difference in cost.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWEN, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

VICTORY

AGAIN COMES TO IDLEWILDE AT MANSFIELD.

Stone Gets the Best of Moore in a Pitchers' Battle and Wins 3 to 2.

Mansfield, O., May 12.—The Idlewilde baseball team won the second game from Mansfield Wednesday by the close score of 3 to 2 in a pitchers' battle, in which for cool-headed and artistic work Stone clearly outclassed Moore, who held the visitors to five hits, but several of these came in timely in the sixth inning, giving them a lead which Mansfield could not overcome. The fielding of both teams was fast, Humphreys, of the home team, and Flick, of Idlewilde, however, seeming to have an off day and bunting five of the seven errors made between them. The other two were not costly. The score:

Games Saturday and Sunday.

Friday will be an off day for the Idlewilde players, but on Saturday and Sunday they will have their hands full, when Manager Prince's Coshocton team will be here for two games. He has a great aggregation of hustlers, who know the game from start to finish, and Manager Driscoll's players will have to put forth their best efforts to even secure an even break. The kind of never-say-die baseball that Coshocton puts up may be imagined when it is remembered that Bateman, who last year played shortstop for Urbana, is at the same place this year for Coshocton.

Will Play at Utica.

Mt. Vernon, O., May 12.—A nine composed of former members of the old Shamrock team, with Worley and McDonald as battery, will go to Utica next Saturday to play with the team that has been organized there.

Eckstorm Will Umpire.

Mt. Vernon, O., May 12.—Mr. James Wilson, having accepted a position which prevents him from officiating at the ball games as umpire, has resigned. On Thursday Mr. Charles Brown, of Fredericktown, will hand out decisions at the park. On the following day Dr. Eckstorm, of Gambier, will be the high official. It is likely that Dr. Eckstorm can be secured to umpire all the games here this summer.

Molders to Play Ball

There will be a hot game of ball between the Wehrle molders of the old shop and the molders of the new shop on Sunday morning at the Park. The game will be called at 9 o'clock.

Wrestling Match Saturday Night.

The lovers of good clean athletic entertainment should not miss the opportunity of witnessing the great championship wrestling match next Saturday night at Music Hall, when Jack Newhardt, the local welterweight, and Al Ackerman, of Fosteria, contend for the state championship at that weight.

Newhardt is in fine condition and very confident that he can win from his strong and skillful opponent, while the latter is also figuring on getting the winner's share of the purse.

The prices have been put at 25, 50 and 75 cents, in the reach of all.

ATHLETIC FIELD

Will Be Opened Saturday, May 14, Under the Auspices of the Newark Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. Athletic Field will be opened next Saturday, May 14, to the members of the association and the general public.

There will be a game of baseball at 2:30 p. m. between the Newark High School team (which, it will be remembered, won a glorious victory over Central High of Columbus last Saturday) and Denison second team. This will be a fine game and the boys should have a large attendance at this opening game.

Two elegant tennis courts will also be opened Saturday. The association has spent considerable money to put the courts into first class shape. They now have without doubt as fine courts as Newark has ever had.

A spring tennis tournament will soon be announced. All who expect to play should get athletic membership at once and begin practice.

A season ticket will again be issued, and is now on sale at the Y. M. C. A. office.

This entitles the holders to the use of the privileges of the field and admission to all baseball games held under the management of the association except college games. Only holders of this special ticket will be allowed to use the field this year.

To members the athletic ticket will again be one dollar. To non-members, two dollars.
